5. The Planning Commission will begin discussing the City Commission's request to have the commission set rules and regulations for recreational marihuana within the City of Fennville.

The Planning Commission discussed the directive of the City Commission to set rules and regulations for recreational marihuana within the City of Fennville. The Commission discussed the regulations and restrictions already set by the state's regulating laws. The consensus of the Commission was to let the state regulations and the current zoning ordinance serve as the guideline. The Commission directed the City Administrator to work with the attorney to draft a licensing ordinance which limited the number of each license available. Preliminary discussions put the limit on the number of each license at 2. The Commission also discussed an application fee of $1000 and an annual fee of $500 for each license.

The City Administrator will work with the attorney to draft an ordinance and will work with the County to create a map illustrating the buffer zone. Further the City Administrator will work to determine which licenses would be allowed in the various zoning districts.

The Commission will review the information at the next regular meeting.
